

Amendment To The Specification:

A substitute specification in compliance with §§1.125(b) and (c) is being filed concurrently with this preliminary amendment. Please replace the specification with a substitute specification.

To conform with earlier applications, the specification is amended to change certain terms. For example, the term “operator” is changed to “computer user,” the term “time means” is changed to “timer,” the term “answer means” is changed to “answer detector,” and the term “dial means” is changed to “dialer.” Corresponding changes are made in the replacement drawings. No new matter is added. Also, the substitute specification includes a reference to the parent application.

Replacement Drawings:

Replacement drawings are being filed concurrently with this preliminary amendment. To conform with earlier applications, the drawings are amended to change certain terms. For example, the term “operator” is changed to “computer user,” the term “time means” is changed to “timer,” the term “answer means” is changed to “answer detector,” and the term “dial means” is changed to “dialer.” Corresponding changes are made in the substitute specification. No new matter is added.